

How to turn Beach Hop into a legitimate tax expense

Firstly, welcome to Whanga and welcome to Beach Hop! We hope you have a wonderful and safe time.

Research has told us that many of you have property or good friends in the area. Have you ever wondered how you could make those connections tax deductible?

Having a place on the Coromandel means you can claim a large variety of legitimate expenses. Things like a portion of your bach as a second office, petrol, entertainment, communication, even visits to your accountant!

And if you're in the auto trade – your Beach Hop car may even be claimable as a marketing expense.

Accountants at Whanga have a team of six experienced staff and because our overheads are lower, we're very price competitive. In fact, a large number of our clients are already from out of town and love spending extra time here mixing a little business with pleasure.

Okay, okay! We know this is a party weekend so we won't talk any more business but if you would like to know about us – take a look at our website. Have a great time and we'll see you on the dance floor.
